Cook's Corner

Summer Parmesan Chicken

Here's a lighter version of traditional "Chicken Parm" that's perfect for warm summer evenings. I prefer to use fresh, thin-sliced Mozzarella, but the shredded cheese works well too. Using a mix of red, yellow and orange cherry tomatoes makes for a colorful presentation. Remember we eat with our eyes first! I hope you and your family will enjoy this one. Mangia!

- ¼ cup flour
- 1 egg, lightly beaten
- 2/3 cup Panko breadcrumbs
- 6 to 8 thin sliced chicken cutlets
- Kosher or sea salt Body text
- Fresh ground black pepper
- 2 Tbsp olive oil
- 1 cup shredded Mozzarella OR fresh, thin-sliced Mozzarella
- 1 & ½ cups chopped zucchini
- 1 & ½ cups cherry tomatoes, halved (use red or combination of colors)
- 2 cloves garlic, thinly sliced
- ¼ fresh basil leaves, chopped or left whole, for garnish

Place flour, egg and breadcrumbs in 3 separate bowls. Season the chicken with salt & pepper. Dredge the chicken in the flour, dip in the egg, then dredge in the breadcrumbs in that order.

Heat oil in a large skillet until hot. Cook the chicken for 2 to 3 minutes per side until done. Move the chicken to a foil lined baking sheet, top with the cheese, and broil until the cheese starts to melt.

Meanwhile, add a little more oil to the skillet and saute the zucchini, tomatoes and garlic until tender, about 5 or 6 minutes.

Serve the chicken with the vegetables on top and garnish with the fresh basil. Cooked linguine dressed simply with olive oil and fresh grated Parmesan cheese and a small salad are great sides for this meal. - MP Christakos

You're Invited to a Planning Meeting for a Pittsfield Community Night Out

The Josiah Carpenter Library has begun contacting and coordinating organizations to gather for a community event during the second half of September. During our initial conversations, people have been enthusiastic for an opportunity to gather throughout downtown attractions and share future plans and ideas. The Pittsfield Community Night Out will likely be held 4-7pm between September 13-25. If your business, church, or organization might want to participate, you're invited to a planning meeting at 5pm on Wednesday July 21 at the Town Beach on Clark Street, rain location is the Josiah Carpenter Library. If you have questions or would like to remain updated about the event, please email lvogt@pittsfieldnh.gov or call the library at 435-8406. We'll plan for summer fun to continue into fall!

In My Opinion One Vote Short of a Dump Truck

In March this year a disturbing event occurred when Pittsfield residents voted. For the first time in my experience here, which is about twenty years, a warrant article requesting funding for a Capital Reserve account failed to get approval. It only failed by one vote, but that was part of a trend which could become a big problem for the town.

The request was for $65,000 to be placed in the Dump Truck Capital Reserve account. This is a lot of money, but trucks fitted out the way the town needs them cost about $180,000.

The town owns three of these trucks and expects them to last 10-12 years, so one gets replaced every 3-4 years. The plan was to replace a 2006 truck soon and the fund had enough money for that. But a newer truck, from 2009, has become unreliable and expensive to maintain. It will have to be replaced soon too, and the reserve won't support two trucks at once, hence the warrant request to have the taxpayers reserve $65,000 for two consecutive years.

It's not clear why the newer truck has not held up as expected. Perhaps the increasing electronic complexity needed to meet emissions and fuel economy is causing a decrease in longevity. If so the town will have to revise its replacement schedule, and the way it explains the need for voter approval of Capital Reserve funding.

We need to make these Capital Reserve fund appropriations.

It's my opinion that there is an explanation for the way people voted this year. It's called SB2. I have more thoughts about that, but there are word limits on these Opinion pieces. I'll try to get them into the Post another time. Bill Miskoe

PMHS Student Spotlight: How Does Blood Pressure Respond to Classical Music?

Hi, my name is Jadin Weygand. I am a member of the class of 2024. My favorite subject is Biology because I want to learn about cells, tissues, organs and the human body. I enjoy doing enrichment assignments to challenge myself. That is why I am passionate about this investigation. My hypothesis is "If a person listens to soft, calming music, then their heart rate and blood pressure will decrease because the music will help the subject to relax." I wrote a two step procedure in which I measured my subjects' heart rate and blood pressure while seated and at rest. Next, the subjects remained seated as they listened to a recording of calm classical music and I measured their heart rate and blood pressure as they were listening. I recorded my data and compared the before and after measurements. My data supported my hypothesis because 70% of the subjects presented a small decrease in both heart rate and blood pressure while listening to the music. Subjects also reported that they felt more relaxed following the experiment. My procedure just represents the tip of the iceberg of the many variations of this experiment I could use. For example, I could group the subjects by age and/or gender or vary the type of music. Since I hope to pursue a career in medicine, I was excited to have the opportunity to interact with real patients and to evaluate the data I collected. Jadin Weygand

Dear Crabby:

My partner of thirty plus years complains that I have taken over all the closets with my clothes. He puts all his clothes in a heap and doesn't want to use a closet.

Do I have to empty out half of the closets and give away my clothes just to keep him happy?

Gather Up Your Favorite Stuffed Animal and Join Corduroy for the Next Town-Wide StoryWalk®

The Josiah Carpenter Library is excited to announce that the next StoryWalk® featuring the classic children's book Corduroy, by author Don Freeman is available for your viewing pleasure. Pages from this book have been mounted in 18 windows throughout the downtown area. Families are encouraged to grab a map from the mailbox that is attached to the new community bulletin board at Dustin's Park and make their way around town to complete the whole story. As you return to the library on Main Street to read the last page of the book, stop in to pick up a free gift donated by No Worry Storage.

As you visit the StoryWalk®, you may notice that there are questions on each page. Asking your child questions about what is being read, helps them develop language and vocabulary skills. Talking about the book also helps build your child's reading comprehension and aids in attention and memory skills.

The StoryWalk® project was created by Anne Ferguson of Montpelier, VT and developed in collaboration with the Vermont Bicycle & Pedestrian Coalition and the Kellogg Hubbard Library to enjoy reading and the outdoors at the same time.

We thank the local businesses who warmly welcomed this literacy project in our downtown area and offered their window space. We plan to change the book every few weeks. Keep an eye out for the next title! Melissa Babcock

Find Ten Differences www.hiddenpicturepuzzles.com

To my constituents in Pittsfield,

The week of June 14 the House and Senate worked together to finalize bills amended by each other. I was assigned to four of these committees of conference, and three went very smoothly. For SB 133 and SB 104, omnibus bills on professional licensing and state employees respectively, we merely explained our amendment to the Senate and they agreed with us. HB 533, on how the lottery commission investigates gaming applicants, was a bit more complex: the Senate had (helpfully) expanded our language to charitable gaming operators, but inadvertently used the expired statute as a base rather than the current one. So we met to fix the reference, and added some clarifying language on cost reimbursements as well. All very amicable.

HB 417, on the governor's emergency powers, was also amicable but not as productive. We met three times, agreeing on the Senate language for fiscal oversight and notifications, with a few tweaks. It soon became evident that we disagreed on whether or not the legislature needed to vote to continue a state of emergency. Everyone agreed that we could vote to end one – that's current law – or a specific emergency order; the House position that the emergency would end without specific authorization was not agreed by the Senate (nor the governor, for that matter.) Since that position was strongly held by many House members (supported by a 328-41 vote!) the committee was unwilling to give it up. After making a final offer of 90 days before a vote was needed, we agreed to disagree.

This week, the House and Senate met for the last scheduled session for this year (a veto session is possible.) With minimal debate and voice votes, we passed 30 bills, including three from my committee. The real action was on the budget, of course. HB 1, the actual dollar allotments, had lengthy debate before passing, 208-172. This was party line, with one member of each crossing over. It was interesting that the opponents seemed convinced that the state tax cuts -business, rooms & meals, and interest & dividends – would only benefit “the rich” and out of state businesses. Well, yes, they get the biggest dollar amounts because they pay the most, but a 20% cut in interest & dividends benefits every retiree living off their savings. And the cut to the statewide property tax will show up on everyone's property tax bills.

HB 2, the budget trailer bill, generated even more debate (20 speakers!) because it included a number of controversial policy positions. The issues debated were tax cuts, education freedom accounts, a ban on late term abortions, banning teaching critical race theory, changes to the governor's emergency powers, and a family and medical leave program for state employees. I support all but the last; the emergency powers reform was fine but incomplete. I was pleased that Epsom will get full funding for its kindergarten program, and that school building aid (Allenstown is high on the list) is there; wastewater and water treatment programs are also funded. The budget passed, 198-181, with nine Republicans (none from this district) joining all Democrats in opposition.

The only other bill that generated messages from constituents was SB 154, a ban on enforcing federal gun laws; it was tabled, 354-19, because the language was unclear and it also might affect otRepresentative Carol McGuire, mcguire4house@gmail.com 782-4918
